LIQUOR ELECTION RE- FUSED IN SCOTT.

County Judge Joseph B. Ward declined to call a local option election for September 28, in Scott County, after the arguments were presented to him by the attorneys for the "drys." The court's opinion was that since an election on the same subject had been ordered and held in Scott County a little more than a year ago, he was unable to call another election.

The petition signed by more than 1,326 voters from the eighteen precincts of Scott County and containing more than twenty-five per cent. of the votes cast at the last general election, was presented to Judge Ward. After petitioners had introduced the testimony showing the residence of citizens signing the petition, they asked the court to call the election for September 28.

The petition filed by the "wets" asking that an election on the same day be held in Georgetown was therefore dismissed by the court.

The "drys" will now institute a suit in Circuit Court and seek to compel the County Judge by mandatory order to call the election, notwithstanding his interpretation of the law.

The matter will now likely be in the courts for an indefinite length of time before any action can be held. Scott Circuit Court begins on the first Monday in October, at which time the question of mandamus against Judge Ward will be heard.

THAVIU AND HIS BAND.

Versatility is one of the great features of Thaviu, who with his celebrated band, is coming to the Paris Fair Grounds, for one performance, Sunday afternoon, August 2.

Thaviu has won an enviable place in modern music with his vigorous methods and tasteful programs. He and his band are known throughout the length and breadth of the land. They have found favor with music lovers in all walks of life, and have gained fame in every quarter of the country.

Combined with his power as a conductor Thaviu is a cornetist of great ability and his playing has been praised by the highest critics in America. As a program maker he is without a peer or a rival. He seems to suit any gathering, from the frivolous crowds at the summer parks who seek nothing but the gayer and lighter melodies, to the more sedate gatherings in the Chautauquas, who demand music of a higher grade and style.

Thaviu knows music and knows musicians. He has one of the very best musical organizations on the road this season, and not only carries a band that is perfect in every detail, but also presents an opera company that offers grand opera in the best taste and in the best manner.

Without a doubt the coming of Thaviu and his band to Paris will be a rare musical treat. At the Paris Fair Grounds, Sunday afternoon, August 2, for one performance only.

WINCHESTER "WETS" TO TEST LOCAL OPTION LAW.

It was rumored Thursday that it is the plan of the Winchester "wets" to have separate elections on the liquor question in the city and county. Petitions to this effect have already been circulated, but it was stated by a saloon man that the petitions were being prepared in order to make a test of the county unit law, should the city vote wet, while the county as a whole went dry.

FINE PROSPECTS IN THIS COUNTY FOR GROWING CROPS

The prospects for growing crops in Bourbon County is very satisfactory at present. The county has been blessed with good soaking rains that have been worth thousands of dollars to the growing crops. Meadows that were parched by the hot sun have taken on new life and corn and tobacco already show indications of benefits derived from the showers.

An unusual occurrence in this section in July was the planting of a number of tobacco fields, and also gardens. The weather conditions had not been favorable for the former work, and vegetables that had been planted earlier in the season had dried up for lack of rain. There is hope that both will mature before the frosts come. There is said to be a fine prospect for apples and peaches.

Unless there is a repetition of the unfavorable weather conditions that prevailed during the middle of July and earlier, the crops will have a growing chance to reach maturity.

LOCAL OPTION PETITION FILED IN CLERK'S OFFICE.

A committee representing the local option sentiment in this county filed their petition in the office of County Clerk Pearce yesterday afternoon. The petition contained 1,734 signatures. The number required by law is 1,020. The petition requests County Judge Chas. A. McMillan to call an election in this county on Monday, Sept. 28, to take the sense of the voters of Bourbon county on the question of local option. The petition will be presented to Judge McMillan on Monday, Aug. 3, county court day.

AGED PREACHER STRONG FOR THOMAS.

North Middletown, Ky., July 20. To the Democratic Voters of Seventh Congressional District:

"I am in my seventy-eighth year of age, was born, reared and lived nearly all my life in Bourbon County, Ky. Have been a preacher in the Christian Church nearly fifty-five years, and I wish to say, that I have known the Hon. Claude M. Thomas from childhood to the present.

"I joined farms with his father for twenty-six years, and when Claude Thomas was a boy we regarded him as one of the brightest and best boys of the county, as a young man a clean, sober, moral, and upright gentleman, and to-day he is a model Christian gentleman and stands above reproach.

"He has been opposed to whisky, and all sorts of immorality from his early boyhood days. He is in every way qualified to make us just such a Congressman as we need to bring honor to the Seventh District.

"He is a man that knows nothing about billingsgate, mud-slinging and falsifying hem oves in a higher plane of thought.

"He is a Democrat in politics, never having scratched a ticket. He has been a Wilson man before and after the Baltimore convention, and has unbounded confidence in his administration. He has endorsed temperance and he assured you have no greater friend, and no more faithful, earnest advocate.

"He is a great all-round man, a man of intelligence, education, uprightness of character, and in soundness of moral principle irreproachable. When there is a moral issue before the people we never have to inquire to where he stands. Always ready and willing to work for the moral betterment and uplift of the people.

"The people of our district should without fail select him as our candidate, and be sure to elect him at the fall election. His influence for good would rise a star of first magnitude in the Congressional galaxy.

"Yours very truly,

ALL DEMOCRATS SHOULD VOTE IN AUGUST PRIMARY

Urging that every Democrat in Kentucky participate in the coming State primary, Editor Urey Woodson says in the Owensboro Messenger:

"The State primary this year will be on the first day of August. There are candidates and candidates to be considered, but the important thing for the Democrats is to be sure to go to the polls and vote. This is the right time for loyalty to country and to party. It is best known by taking a deep interest in the public affairs of the country. It is a time to stand by one's political colors.

"All kinds of efforts are being made to disconcert the President, but it is having no effect. He will not let go even though it thunders. He is right as well as plucky.

"Let every Democrat get ready for the August primary, and let him encourage all his neighbors to turn out and show the President, as well as the enemies of the country's best interest that Democrats are loyal to both party and to country. A great Democratic vote in the August primary will be a vote of confidence in the President."

FOUR PREACHERS URGE NOMINATION OF THOMAS.

An eloquent appeal for the support of honest men and good principles for the nomination and election of Hon. Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon County, for Congress from this district, was made by the pastors of four churches at a meeting at Troy, Woodford County. The ministers were Rev. H. L. Cochrane, of the Presbyterian Church, at Troy, Rev. R. J. Bamber, of the Christian Church, Rev. O. O. Green, of the Baptist Church, and J. M. Fuqua, of the Methodist Church, all of Versailles.

The crowd joined in the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home." Senator Thomas was introduced by Hon. Harry A. Scoberth, of Versailles. Mr. Scoberth made a brief speech setting forth the reasons why Senator Thomas should be nominated. Another meeting was held at Nonesuch, Woodford County, which was attended by a good sized crowd, as was that at Troy.

THE MOUNTAIN COUNTIES STRONG FOR BECKHAM.

The mountain counties still show their preference for Gov. J. C. W. Beckham for United States Senator, and that the ex-Governor's strength is still gaining at a rapid rate is proof conclusive, as the date of the primary nears. The few followers of Stanley and McCreary are still raising a howl, but without avail, and nothing can be done to stay the Beckham strength, and he is sure of the largest vote that was ever polled for any man in the history of the mountains.

The Hon. F. H. Harris, of Whitesburg, has been selected as campaign manager for Beckham, in Letcher County, and the organization will be as complete as can be made.

FREE CONCERT TO-MORROW AF- TERNOON BY FAMOUS BAND

Through the efforts of Paris business men, with the personal assistance of Mr. G. A. Thomas, of Frankfort, residents of this city and county are to be given a treat to-morrow afternoon when the famous New York Marine Band will give a free concert on the steps of the Court House.

The band, under the leadership of M. Lozite, is considered one of the finest in the country, and is said to outrank Bonhamir Kryl, and to be in a class with Sousa and the Gilmore organizations. The band has been touring the South under the auspices of the Alkahest Lyceum Bureau, and with an open date was secured by the business men of Paris subscribing funds for bringing them here.

The residents outside the city of Paris will be the guests of the merchants of Paris during the afternoon, and the presence of the band is expected to prove a great drawing card in getting the country folk of Bourbon in Paris for an afternoon's pleasure.

It is seldom that an opportunity is given to hear music by one of these famous bands except during the Chautauqua season or at the theatres, and the visit of the New York Marine Band is certain to prove a decided attraction for the people of the city and the county to-morrow afternoon. The program will begin promptly at 2:30 p. m., and will last two hours.

FIRE CHIEF ED. HITE MAKING GOOD AT MAYSVILLE

Fire Chief Ed. Hite, Wednesday morning received a communication from Ruby Laffoon, stating that the fire insurance rates of Maysville would be materially reduced in the next few weeks, after the State rating board had completed its investigation. For several months Chief Hite has been working on this proposition, securing data from towns all over the State as to the fire insurance rates in cities of the same population as Maysville. He found out that several places had lower rates than Maysville, and that their fire protection was not half as good. Acting upon this information he placed the matter before Mr. Laffoon.

POLICE MAKE SEVERAL IMPORTANT ARRESTS.

Chief of Police Link, Wednesday, arrested a man on Main Street, whose actions led him to believe that he was an escaped lunatic. He was taken in charge, and upon being searched a large "12" was found marked on his shirt. The Lexington asylum authorities were communicated with, and an official was sent here, who identified the man as A. Fridmore, who had walked away from the institution a day or two ago. He was returned to the asylum Wednesday night.

Chief of Police Link and Patrolman King arrested two negroes on the Georgetown pike, on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of a safe in Georgetown. A pint of whiskey and a Smith & Wesson Special revolver were found on them. The negroes were given two hours to leave town.

The same officers were called to the residence of Dr. Wallingford on Sixth Street, yesterday morning. A white man had been seen coming out of the house during the absence of Dr. Wallingford, and his actions aroused suspicion. The officers arrested the man, who gave his name as John Williams, of Toledo, O., and claimed to be selling soap. When he was searched three razors and a revolver, afterward identified as the property of Dr. Wallingford, were found on his person. Williams used the deaf and dumb style of conversation, and had nothing to say. He was taken to jail.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY FAIR

The Montgomery County Fair opened at Mt. Sterling, Tuesday, with the largest first day crowd in years, and the weather was ideal. The mule exhibits were the finest ever witnessed in Kentucky, and in the $300 suckling mule ring there was a fine field of colts. After hot competition the first premium was won by J. H. Marr, of Bourbon County, with second premium to same. The stake was worth $115 to the winner. In the 3-year-old champion saddle class, first premium was won by Auto Be King, shown by Billy Shropshire, while in the New York saddle class, Gossip, by King Chieftain, owned by Clarence L. Kerr, of Lexington, and ridden by Matt Cohen, was awarded first prize.

The $100 saddle stake Wednesday was won by Allie Jones' Admiral King. In the jack stock show, Myers & McClintock won first and third awards.

HOG CHOLERA AND ITS CONTROL

By H. M. Hamilton, Veterinarian, County Live Stock Inspector of Bourbon County, Ky.

Hog cholera is the most highly communicable and the most generally prevalent disease affecting swine. No breed of swine is immune to this malady, although the susceptibility of different breeds and of different individuals of the same breed differ widely in degree. The disease is characterized by loss of appetite, elevated temperature and early intoxication. So great is the death rate from hog cholera that it is an excessive economic loss on the farmers of the nation. The loss of the State of Kentucky during 1913 amounting to over $2,000,000. The disease promises to be more prevalent and wide spread than the past year.

CAUSE—The causative agent of hog cholera has never been definitely ascertained, but long continued experiments has proven it to be due to micro-organisms or a filterable virus, which will pass through the finest filters. The filterable virus spoken of above is found to exist not only in the blood of infected swine, but in the urine, the faeces and the macerated structures of some of the internal organs.

METHODS OF TRANSMISSION—Hog cholera may be transmitted in a number of ways—by direct contact of one animal with another, in sleeping quarters or feeding troughs; by birds; by streams; by dogs; by parasites; on the shoes of individuals; and by eating infected food. It is most frequently contracted at the time of feeding, and herds that are confined in close, ill-ventilated or unsanitary quarters are most readily infected and they offer the least resistance to its ravages.

Birds that feed on the carcasses of hogs dead of the disease often carry the causative agent to remote fields, where they communicate it to the healthy animals. The pollution of a small stream caused by the presence of an infected carcass, (or herd having access to same) may carry the infection to the other herds miles away.

It may be asserted without fear of refutation that all stockyards are infected with cholera, as are all public feeding stations and rest stations provided by common carriers for accommodation of swine in transit. There is always a probability of infection at public fairs and stock shows, and none but immune animals should be sent to such places for exhibition purposes.

An estimate of the relative productivity of various sources of infection, placing the greatest burden of responsibility upon the human element.

Visitation of neighbors carrying the causative agent on their shoes from infected herds to uninfected herds are responsible for 33 per cent. of the outbreaks.

Birds carrying the infecting medium in 27.5 per cent. of outbreaks.

Dogs are probably responsible for about 6.5 per cent. of outbreaks.

Streams carry the causative factor which is responsible for some 8 per cent. of outbreaks; hogs in adjoining premises convey the infection in about 4.5 per cent.; escaped hogs in 4 per cent.; new stock from infected sources bring the cholera in about 10 per cent. of outbreaks, and in 6.5 per cent. of new cases the infection is traceable to local causes due to improper sanitation.

SYMPTOMS—The period of incubation of hog cholera is sometimes as short as two days, but usually run from four to eight days from date of exposure. No swine that has been exposed to the disease can be regarded as entirely safe from the malady until after a period of thirty days has elapsed.

Owing to wide and different symptoms in every case of hog cholera it is often difficult to make diagnosis. Moreover, we often encounter cases of hog cholera in which the symptoms are not sufficiently pronounced to render diagnosis simple or definite.

The symptoms are so wide and different that it isn't necessary for me to go into details on symptomatology, but in all outbreaks of a fatal disease in swine the owner should at once consult a qualified veterinarian, and if possible arrive at a diagnosis, and it same is found to be cholera, then the County Live Stock Inspector should at once be informed, and all precautions possible be taken to prevent the spread of the disease to non-infected hogs on the same farm, and non-infected herds on adjoining farms.

Hog cholera may be confounded with the following diseases: Anthrax alimentary troubles resulting from dietetic errors and parasites of tuberculosis.

TREATMENT—The first and most important is vigorous and rigid quarantine. It is now conceded that there is only one effective method of combating hog cholera, the so-called "Dorset-Niles Method," which consists of the hypodermic administration of protective serum only, or of the serum and virus method, commonly called simultaneous method. This method should be used in healthy herds only, which is the best time to administer the serum always. Don't wait until the herd is affected. This treatment should be administered only by a qualified veterinarian. We must reckon with the fact that the hog is a very dirty animal and whether the treatment is applied for the production of immunity or as a curative agent, extra precautions must be taken to guard against septic infection. Clean quarters, clean steril instruments, clean water and plenty of it and liberal quantities of antiseptics used.

All hogs that are sick or die do not have cholera, therefore, the importance of working a correct diagnosis. Whether cholera or not, those hogs showing no symptoms should be isolated, dipped in some stock dip, placed in clean, uninfected quarters and given a light diet of thin slop containing a variety of food, such as bran, oat meal, shorts, a little ground corn and some tankage, some green food and plenty of pure, fresh water is of great value. The medical treatment should consist of internal antiseptics given in the food or drink.

In addition to the diet mineral, foods should be supplied. A mixture of charcoal, air-slacked lime with common salt and ground green bone is excellent. If wallows are provided, the water should contain some disinfectant, such as cresolin, daytholium, etc.

For sick hogs give them as described above, sanitary quarters, plenty of pure, fresh water, then a good purge of salts, and follow with intestinal antiseptics freely, such as turpentine, salicylic acid, or carbolic acid. The hygiene and diet should be carefully regulated, as provided above. This treatment should always be given, even if serum is administered.

The quarters must be cleaned and disinfected and all dead animals burned or buried deep, and covered by lime. A large percentage of losses from hog cholera can be prevented. A strict quarantine against all transmissible swine diseases should be maintained (and here is where the owner should be greatly interested, for what protects you protects your neighbor and means that the spread of disease can be prevented) and the general health of swine should be preserved by clean, comfortable quarters, avoiding bedding with old straw that is easily broken up into fine dust that causes much irritation of the respiratory passages when inhaled. Keep wallows clean and disinfected. A better way is to have a cement wallow that can be cleaned and supplied with fresh water to which a non-poisonous disinfectant can be added. Swine should have a variety of good food with good pasture when possible, and plenty of mineral elements supplied. Above all, keep the quarters clean.

ENDORSED AT HOME.

Such Proof As This Should Convince Any Paris Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Paris adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

George McCandles, butcher, Paris, Ky., says: "Some time ago I had occasion to use a kidney remedy. The way Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the trouble proved their merit."

Mr. McCandles is only one of many Paris people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. McCandles had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Wipe Out the Stain Placed Upon the Democratic Party of Kentucky by These Four Traitors and Their Whiskey and Beer Trust Bosses

Eight years ago the Democracy of Kentucky held a Primary Election to nominate a candidate for the United States Senate. More than 100,000 Democrats participated in that primary. Governor Beckham received a majority of the votes, carrying 91 of the 119 counties in the state. The Legislature which followed was Democratic in both branches, but Governor Beckham had enforced the law as to closing the saloons in Louisville on Sunday, and had stood for the County Unit Law, thereby incurring the enmity of the Whiskey Trust and the Beer Trust, and they sought his defeat in the Legislature. The above four men, elected as Democrats, betrayed their trust and voted for the Republican candidate, W. O. Bradley, thereby electing him to the Senate.

Will You Cast a Vote On August 1st to Endorse This Treachery? If not, Vote for J. C. W. Beckham, and Right the Wrong Done Him and the Democratic Party

BECKHAM OF KENTUCKY

Personal Characteristics and Remarkable Career of the Most Popular Man in Kentucky—The Candidate Most Likely To Succeed the Late Senator Bradley As the Choice of the Democrats At the Primaries To Be Held August 1st

(By C. P. Connolly, Staff writer Harper's Weekly.)

J. C. W. Beckham, of Kentucky, the man of the hour in this crucial year in Kentucky Politics.

This remarkable sketch concerning J. C. W. Beckham is reprinted from Harper's Weekly, the national weekly publication that is supporting President Woodrow Wilson and his policies in the present administration at Washington.

THE candidate most likely to succeed the late Senator Bradley as the choice of the Democrats at the primaries to be held August 1st, is J. C. W. Beckham. Beckham was the choice of the Democratic party six years ago, when a Democratic legislature elected the late William O'Connell Bradley, a Republican. There was a majority of eight Democrats in the legislature, but the Whiskey Ring controlled enough of these to defeat Beckham, and Bradley was elected.

Kentucky is replete with romance and tragedy, political and other. If there is anything native about literature, it may account for the professional success of James Lane Allen and of John Fox, Jr., who have both largely drawn on Kentucky for their material.

In business adventure there was James B. Haggins, the mining magnate, who, peevish because of his failure of election to some petty office when a young man, emigrated to California, became fabulously rich, and returning in his old age to his old home at Lexington, established a great stock farm which is one of the show places of Kentucky. At Frankfort, thirty miles from Lexington, Henry Clay appeared as the attorney for Aaron Burr in his first trial for treason, much to Clay's subsequent chagrin. Here, too, at Lebanon, lived Proctor Knott, one-time governor of Kentucky, who delivered in Congress his famous parody on Duluth. Mountaineers and valley-men have their feuds and wars, but at bottom there was usually some elemental instinct of justice. At Frankfort, the capital, in 1900, William Goebel was shot from ambush as he was about to be declared the duly elected governor of the state. Out of this last drama issued the career of J. C. W.

Beckham, a mere stripling at the time, just past the age of eligibility for the governorship.

The assassination of Goebel was the climax of a great political contest. Not in modern American history anywhere was there a more heroic or tragic struggle. That it left its sting is evidenced by the fact that it is difficult to wear a Kentuckian from his disrelish of the subject.

Every one will remember how Goebel fought so valiantly against the politically entrenched Louisville & Nashville Railroad—of how he was sworn in as governor on his death bed, and died with words of pardon for his enemies on his lips.

Goebel, who was the pioneer progressive of the South—he was the pioneer of railroad rate regulation in the country—was the most maligned and misunderstood character in American history. He fought his way bitterly through prejudices strong enough to deter most men, and waged war against the old aristocracy of Kentucky and the Louisville & Nashville railroad ring at the same time.

It was left to Beckham, as the successor of Goebel, to smooth out the wrinkled front of this issue. He followed the even tenor of his way, neither compromising nor bullying, but doing all things with an even-tempered justice which won the people of Kentucky, and reconciled the enemies of Goebel.

Beckham comes of gentle stock. His mother has occupied the Executive Mansion at Frankfort both as daughter and mother of a governor. An uncle, ex-Senator Yulee, of Florida, entered Beckham in the Central University at Richmond, Ky.; but Senator Yulee shortly afterwards dying, young Beckham, then seventeen, was compelled to leave college to look after the farm of his widowed mother. Meanwhile he taught school.

Beckham did not falter in the policies for which Goebel was assassinated. He got through the law advocated by Goebel, allowing the State Railroad Commission to regulate rates. Under his administration Kentucky's new capitol was built. He showed courage in this. Others had recommended a new capitol, but no governor cared to put the power of his administration behind it, because Louisville, on the one side, and Lexington, on the other, both coveted the honor of the capitol.

He collected from the Federal Government an old war debt of $1,300,000. He secured legislation fixing a maximum price for school books. He established two normal schools, and he lengthened the school term in the country districts from five to six months.

But it was in a bitter struggle for the supremacy of the law that Beckham ran against Judge Ben Lindsey's "Beast." He believes that the law should keep pace with the growth of public sentiment, and that when enacted it should be enforced.

The South, topographically the most beautiful section of the country, has had its hurts and its heartaches, which it has borne without sentimental appeal, and with heroic soul. Its people are grappling with everything that stands in the present way of its welfare. One of these evils is the liquor traffic, which has been peculiarly wretched and sinister in its effects on the South.

If you travel through certain portions of the South, you will rarely pick up a local paper which does not descend on some tragedy that can be traced, directly or remotely, to strong drink. So the anti-liquor crusade is sweeping over the South. Yet it was not in any spirit of crusading that Beckham locked horns with the liquor interests of Kentucky. It was rather the thing that fell in his way as a public duty.

The constitution of Kentucky, adopted some twenty-five years ago, contained a provision that required the legislature to enact a law giving each county of the state the right to vote itself "wet" or "dry." This constitutional provision, like the one that prohibits railroad passes, was honored in the breach. Indeed, Kentucky legislators have been prone, in matters of reform, to adopt the policy of the Vermont Fathers, who resolved "that the laws of God and Connecticut be adopted until we have time to frame better."

Beckham obeyed the Constitution and recommended the enactment of a law in conformity with it; but the liquor interests succeeded in having exempted the larger cities.

Then there was a Sunday closing law on the statute books, which was openly violated in the cities, notably in Louisville. Beckham was appealed to, but he had no power to remove derelict city officials, and could make only a moral appeal to the mayor of Louisville to enforce the law, which was unsuccessful.

It so happened that shortly after this the Kentucky Court of Appeals decided that the election of all of Louisville's officials had been procured by fraud. The offices were by the court declared vacant, and the governor was empowered to fill them by appointment. Beckham went over the heads of the party machine and appointed a mayor with the understanding that the Sunday closing law would be enforced. It was enforced and is enforced to-day.

The "rectifiers" of Kentucky make a product that is sold as whiskey, but which is made up of various occult ingredients. They were doing an immense business in Kentucky, and paying very little in taxes. Beckham secured a law that taxed these "rectifiers" a cent and a quarter a gallon on their product. Also, he secured the passage of a law prohibiting the shipping of liquor into "dry" territory; but the Supreme Court of the United States held that this was unconstitutional, so far as it affected interstate shipments. The Louisville man, therefore, could take his whiskey across the river to Jeffersonville, Ind., and from there ship it to any point in Kentucky, wet or dry. The Webb law, later passed by Congress, is intended to remove these illicit accommodations and stop the traffic.

Beckham hardly had time to formulate his policies, after Goebel's death, when he was obliged to stand for another election. The politicians were against him, but the people were with him, and he received the votes of 700 out of the 900 delegates.

It was in the palmy days of Mark Hanna, and that astute leader, under whose auspices Kentucky had gone Republican in 1896, believed Beckham could be beaten. The Republicans, therefore, put up their best man and their stoutest purse, but Beckham won by nearly 4,000 votes. Three years later there was no opposition to his nomination, and he carried the State by 27,000 plurality.

Towards the end of his second term as governor, Beckham, in 1906, became a candidate for the United States Senate. His candidacy aroused intense feeling in the camp of the liquor interests. In the primary election for the senatorship, in 1907, with the combined opposition of the party machine and the daily newspapers in Louisville, Lexington, Covington and Newport, the four largest cities in the State, Beckham carried 91 counties out of 119 in the State, with the liquor interests furnishing a plethoric purse toward his defeat. Beaten at the polls, the liquor interests retreated to the legislature, and four Democratic legislators voted at the beck of the whiskey ring for a Republican.

By agreeing to abandon the temperance cause for which he had stood, Beckham could have won; but he refused to trade—once more showing his courage and his devotion to principle.

In my opinion, gained after a journey last summer through Kentucky, that sacrifice of Beckham for a principle will make him the next United States senator from Kentucky as surely as it defeated him then. If there is anything in political justice, if there is any atonement for political wrongs, if a people are not ungrateful or indifferent, Beckham will be rewarded. Not that he looks for reward. "Victory is not always the true test of an honest and righteous cause," he said in a public speech after his defeat in 1908; "success may have its pleasures, but failure may have its honor."

And let me add that, whether you believe in prohibition, or in the enforcement of the law, or whether you side with the liquor interests in Kentucky, the whiskey ring of that state has exercised more political power of late years in the state than all other corporations put together; and it is far more violent and autocratic.

If he should go to the senate, he will add to the dignity and the worth of that body. He is one whom the country at large will welcome to the councils of the nation. No man in Kentucky is hardy enough to question his integrity. The charge has been made that, since his return to the practice of law, his law firm has acted as local attorneys for the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Whoever his client, he is of that type of lawyer whose convictions are not for sale with his services. His popularity is based largely upon his integrity, and he is the most popular man in Kentucky.

The reason why Father knows these yarns about Heartless Corporations making money out of Child Labor are all rot is because once in a while Father tries to bribe the children to help around the house.

The more I examine the people I meet every day, the more I rejoice that I was not born a Cannibal.

DEATHS.

KUYKENDALL.

—The one-year-old son of Mrs. Annie Kuykendall died at the home of its mother, at the L. & N. section house on the Clintonville pike, Tuesday, of enterocolitis. The body was buried at the Clay burial ground on the Winchester pike.

METZGER.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Metzger, wife of Mr. Max Metzger, a well-known concrete contractor in charge of the L & N. bridge work, died at her home on Parrish Avenue, in this city, Wednesday at 12:30 following a protracted illness. She is survived by her husband, three sons, Nelson, Floyd and Henry Metzger, and one daughter, Miss Nancy Metzger.

The body will be taken on the noon train to-day to Carlisle for interment.

SAUER.

—Laura Evelyn Sauer, aged twenty-three months, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sauer, of near this city, died Wednesday morning at the home of her uncle, Dr. G. L. Rankin, on Walker Avenue. The baby was taken sick about four weeks ago at Dr. Rankin's home, from an attack of colitis, from which she never rallied. Her mother, who was Miss Tillie Gaper, is also ill at Dr. Rankin's home.

The funeral services were held at the residence of Dr. Rankin yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive. Burial at the Paris cemetery. The pall-bearers were Bryant Doty, Ussery Wilder, Robert Hall and Robert Lavin.

CLARKE

—Dr. Charles Jordan Clarke, aged 69 years, one of the best known druggists in Central Kentucky, and one of the most popular citizens of Paris, died Wednesday morning about 11:30 at his home on Stoner Avenue, after an illness of several weeks from a nervous breakdown. Dr. Clarke came to Paris from Louisville in 1882, and served as prescriptionist for the drug firm of Davis & Lyle. Later he formed a partnership with the late Mr. Allen Lary, and after his death, continued the drug business with great success, his thorough knowledge of drugs and medicines and his uniform courtesy and sympathy winning for him the confidence and esteem of the entire community, few men being regarded with greater love and respect by all classes of people.

Dr. Clarke's father was Jordan Clarke, who was Clerk of the Circuit Court in Louisville for many years. His grandfather on his mother's side was Hon. William Logan, who was a United States Senator and Speaker of the House, and his great-grandfather was Benjamin Logan, one of the pioneers of Kentucky who figured at Boonesboro, and was contemporary of George Rogers Clarke. Dr. Clarke was also related to one branch of the Breckinridge family. He was a staunch member of the Methodist Church, and also of Coeur de Lion Commandery, No. 26, Knights Templar. But perhaps no cause was dearer to his heart than the Confederate Veterans. No gathering of old comrades was complete without him, and he was true to the cause for which he fought in most of the principal battles of the war. He belonged to the Orphan Brigade, and was a member of the Sixth Kentucky Infantry, under his brother, Colonel William Clarke.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Scott Meredith, of Virginia; the death of his only son, William Clarke, occurred several years ago, and was a blow from which he never seemed to recover.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4:30 at Methodist church. Services will be conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. S. Sims, and Rev. Dr. J. L. Clarke, of Winchester. The Masons will have charge of the services at the grave in the Paris Cemetery. The active pall-bearers will be James McClure, F. P. Lowry, Steele Marsh, Hugh Alexander, E. M. Dickson, Dr. M. H. Dailey, H. A. Power and Dr. W. T. Brooks, and the honorary pall-bearers selected are Dr. Silas Evans, Dr. Frank Fithian, Dr. J. T. Brown, Dr. A. H. Keller, Dr. William Kenney, Buckner Woodford, Sr., Captain James Rogers and Gano Hildreth.

FUND FOR TRAINING SCHOOL.

Prof. F. C. Button, Supervisor of Rural Schools of Kentucky, has written Miss Mabel Robbins, of Paris, County Superintendent of Schools, enclosing a letter from James H. Dillard, Secretary of the Jeannes Fund, stating that an appropriation of $500 had been made for the ensuing year to aid in the establishment of a Training School for colored students at Little Rock, this county.

The Jeannes Fund was left by a wealthy colored woman in the South to establish training schools for colored pupils in each of the Southern States, including Kentucky.

Miss Robbins made application for the fund last year, and several weeks ago, after a trip to Little Rock, accompanied by Prof. Button, decided that it would be the proper thing to give the colored people of that section the benefit of the fund, and the appropriation will be continued for three successive years.

STEAM ROLLER GOES THROUGH STREET.

The big steam roller being employed in the reconstruction work on Main Street had a narrow escape from being engulfed Tuesday afternoon when it partly sank through the street in front of Brower & Johnson's cafe. The engineer discovered his danger when the front end of the machine suddenly sank almost out of sight, and applying a full head of steam he succeeded in backing his machine out of danger. The accident was caused by a soft place in the street where a cave-in occurred when the present sewer system on Main Street was being built some years ago.

KENTUCKY WOMAN, SUFFERER FROM STOMACH ILLS, QUICKLY RESTORED

Mrs. Belle Hawkins Uses Mayr Remedy—"Never Felt Better In My Life."

Mrs. Belle Hawkins, Eminence, Ky., was a victim of stomach disorders. She took a great deal of treatment and medical attention.

At last she tried Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and got real results. It is a letter telling of her experience she said:

"I have taken all of the medicine I ordered of you and will say it has done more good than all the doctors and medicine I ever tried. I don't really think I need any medicine now, as I think I am well. I never felt better in my life. If I ever should need any medicine I know where to get it."

That is a typical letter, taken as one among the thousands from the users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach

Remedy. The first dose proves—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure that it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to G. S. Varden & Son drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects. Got Missing Figures

THE General Manager was presenting plans for an extension of the factory to the company's directors at Detroit. He found that he had left an estimate sheet in his desk at the factory. He called up the factory on the Bell Long Distance Telephone. His assistant read the figures to him and the directors were able to act without delay.

Annoying delays are avoided by the use of the Bell Telephone.

ROCK CRUSHERS

To Provide Lime For Farms Furnished By Kentucky.

With a view of improving the soil of this State, Commissioner of Agriculture Newman has purchased two rock crushers which will be used in grinding up limestone in order that it may be used for fertilizer. The crushers will be furnished to the farmers free of charge, the farmers to pay for the rock, labor and the other expenses necessary to running the crushers. One crusher will be started out of Lexington and will work its way through the Blue Grass into the mountain sections of the State. The other crusher will probably start from Shelbyville and work South.

Commissioner Newman said that every acre of land in this State that does not overflow annually needs lime, and that the most economical way to get the lime is to grind up the limestone into fine powder. He estimates that it will take about four tons of lime to the acre, and the cost to the farmer will be about 50 cents a ton, which is as cheap or cheaper than the farmer can haul it from the railroad station after paying shipping expenses, as well as paying for the lime.

Of late it has been impossible for the farmers to raise crops of red clover, and the failure to do so Commissioner Newman attributes to the lack of lime in the soil. He is of the opinion that the use of lime will improve the condition of alfalfa and cow pea crops. A good stand of red clover put about $25 worth of nitrogen into an acre of land and this in turn makes better crops of corn, tobacco, wheat and hemp.

The convicts in the penitentiary of Illinois grind lime for the State of Illinois, and the State furnishes it to the farmers at 50 cents a ton. Commissioner Newman is of the opinion that ultimately the practice will be started at the Kentucky penitentiaries.

LUKE McLUCHE SAYS:

You can't keep a woman from buying an article that is marked 50 cents and looks as if it cost a dollar.

When the child is bright and pleasant Mother knows it inherited its traits from her people. But when it is ornery and selfish Mother knows that it inherited its traits from its Father's people.

She is always mighty sweet until you get her, and then you discover that she was only sugar coated.

The kind of man who bums around his wife's boarding house and runs errands for her, is the same lad who, when he is sent for a pound of lard, is always willing to stop in at the corner cafe and tell how this country should be run and point out the mistakes of the administration.

HOW TO GET STRENGTH

after any sickness is purely a matter of nourishment, whether the attack was an ordinary cold or severe illness; the weakened forces cannot repulse disease germs, and this is why a relapse is so often fatal or why chronic weakness often follows sickness.

Restoring strength to millions of people for forty years has proven the real need for taking Scott's Emulsion after any sickness; nothing equals it—nothing compares with it. Its pure, medicinal nourishment, free from alcohol or opiates, promptly creates rich blood, strengthens the nerves and lungs to avert tuberculosis.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong."

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

HUNTINGTON QUILTS LEAGUE.

At a meeting between the officials of the Huntington Club of the Ohio State League, at Huntington Wednesday, the Huntington Club gave up its franchise. It is the general opinion that Ironoton will take the franchise. The reason for Huntington surrendering the franchise is said to be poor attendance.

Water and soap are cheap enough. But the fellow who is always yelping about Jawn Dee Rockefeller having all the money is usually a guy who hasn't had a bath since the Spanish-American war.

ROCKSAND IS DEAD.

Rocksand, $150,000 stallion, which was at the head of August Belmont's stud, near Lexington, and which was sold to a French syndicate in 1912, is dead in France. Rocksand was imported in 1905 from England. Belmont paying $125,000. After using him here in the stud he sold him to a French syndicate. As a race horse, Rocksand started twenty times and was sixteen times a winner, once a second and three times a show horse.

RECKLESS JOY-RIDERS.

The "joy-rider" must be suppressed in the interest of human life and the community generally, but unless the efforts to do so are strong and continuous, and the penalties of speeding impartial and drastic the speeder will continue to be a juggernaut with attendant human sacrifice.

Another thought, by the way. The law says plainly that every automobile must have its number in plain view on the rear of the machine, and with a light reflecting upon it at night so that it may be seen. A blind man can satisfy himself that this law is broken into splinters any night upon the streets of Paris, and more than likely it is supposedly done by "joy-riders" from adjoining towns—who think they are "here to-day and gone to-day"—so the very purpose for which the requirements were fixed—the identity of the offenders—can be defeated.

A few days ago, as he says, a man came very near being run over at the corner of Eighth and Main by a reckless auto Jehu driving a big machine in which was party of "joy-riders" unknown to him, and in turning to see the number of the machine got for his pains a smile from the chauffeur as he speeded away again in the direction of Lexington. He was smiling (the chauffeur, of course) because there was no identification license tag, not even a rear signal light on the back of the machine.

There are many, many such guilty ones.

ARRESTED FOR TIPPING.

Probably the first arrest ever made for violation of the anti-tipping law occurred in Jackson, Miss., when A. M. Sinclair, a traveling salesman, was arrested and held under $25 bond for appearance in court next Monday to answer the charge of giving a dime to a hotel porter. Sinclair claims he was merely paying the porter for services rendered outside his regular duties. If convicted he is liable to a fine not more than $50.
